2007 RARSFEST Dinner

Hey, folks! It's hamfest time again: March 31-April 1. Part of the hamfest includes our annual hamfest dinner for vendors, dealers, and other attendees – including you! The dinner will be held on Saturday, March 31st from 7 to 8:15pm.

We will be in a new location at the State Fairgrounds this year. The dinner (and hamfest) will be in the Exposition Center next to the Jim Graham Building.

As always, the dinner largely depends on the generosity of RARS members. The club will provide the meat, drinks, and utensils for the meal. We would like club members to donate vegetable dishes, casseroles, salads, and desserts. This potluck method has worked well in the past, and we hope it will continue to be successful this year.

Both store-bought and homemade items are welcome. Whatever you can contribute will be appreciated. Please note that we do not have the capability to keep items hot or cold; your packaging will need to reflect that.

Please bring dishes to the Exposition Center by 6pm on March 31st. There will be signs directing you to the dinner location within the building.

Club members and their families have always been generous in supporting the RARSFEST dinner. Thanks so much for your help in continuing this tradition.

For more information, contact Mary Jo Littlewood K4MJL, Hamfest Social Chairman.

Public Service Follow-up — The North Carolina

Article by Brian Young KA9QJT

The Odyssey of the Mind Eastern Regional Tournament was held on Saturday, March 3rd at Wakefield High and Middle Schools. If you've never experienced one of these competitions, imagine teams of students solving interesting technical problems and presenting their solutions in a theatric manner that includes costumes, makeup, props, music, etc. Odyssey of the Mind has it all and appeals to both left and right-brained folks alike.

Over 850 kids ranging from the very young up to high school age work on school-sponsored teams (around 40 teams at the regional level!) to tackle problems with such names as "Tag 'Em," "Out of the Box Balsa," and "The Time Capsule." Just to give you an example, here's the description provided by OOM for "Out of the Box Balsa":

The team's problem is to design, build, and test a structure made of balsa wood and glue that will balance and support weights. The team is allowed to use materials other than balsa wood and glue to assembly the parts of the structure. The structure will be designed to fit completely inside a box that is smaller than the assembled structure. When competition time begins, the team will remove the parts and assembly materials from the box, creatively assemble its structure, and test it by placing weights on it.

Now, the left side of my brain says, OK, build the structure in pieces, put it in a box, carry it to the competition at the appointed time, take it out of the box, assemble it, and then stack weights on it until it breaks. Easy, right? Well, I missed the right-brained side of the equation apparently. Add to this the need to tell a story involving the structure as well as the box it comes out of and you begin to get the picture! This year's structure, and the fact it was assembled from sub-assemblies in front of the judges and audience, didn't exactly lead to the creation of super strong structures as seen in the past (the problem and rules change every year!). While shadowing tournament director Karen Thompson, I did manage to see at least one structure hold up to about 30 pounds of weight before it snapped. OK, so I was a bit underwhelmed. In past years, there were structures built to different rules that survived having over 500 pounds placed on them!!

Now for the ham radio side of the equation. I mentioned above that I shadowed the tournament director. In addition, fourteen other radio-equipped volunteers helped make this one of the smoothest running tournaments we've seen. Some were assigned as shadows and were attached at the hip to the regional director, tournament director, site coordinator, and hospitality coordinator – handling radio traffic to and from them for the day. Others were assigned to a room where the competition for a specific problem was held and like shadowing, their job was to handle radio traffic in and out of that room. Finally, all radio traffic was coordinated through a net control station. This year's station was set up just inside the door at the high school. The 2 meter station and Ruby 270 antenna (at ~30 feet) served the HT traffic from the 2 buildings very well.

For those interested in getting their fill of the actual competition, getting a room assignment can be most interesting. Those wishing to get their exercise for the day often request a shadow position as they know they'll be walking several miles during the day.

I'd like to personally thank the following hams for helping with this event: Amber N4NWZ, Paul N9PL, Art W2JNW, Bill W1REP, Rhett KE4HIH, Mike WV5I, Tanner KB4TYE, Joanna KE4QOZ, Al KE4IHX, Gary KN4AQ, John AI4RT, Gil KG4YJG, Duane KD4DMQ, and Larry KG4FIQ.

Nice job folks! I look forward to working with each of you at future events.

Board Meeting - February 2007

Selene KG4RMT asked for follow up on the creation and mailing of paper Exciters for those without email. Rod KI4LSN offered to make the needed copies and mail them out. It was also suggested that Courtney KI4HOS make these copies as part of her editor duties. A discussion on how to handle these requests followed. Selene asked for a list of the six people without email and will coordinate the printing and mailing of the Exciter to these members.

New Business

There is a need to fill the vacancy of the President's position. The by-laws state that since the remaining term is greater than six months, a special election must be held to fill the vacancy. Chuck K4HF has offered to head a nomination committee which will make a recommendation at the March general meeting.
